

OPA37. A frightening morning...

Script

When I got up, I realized it was late and I had to go to work. My eggs were boiling when I poured a cup of coffee. While I was drinking my coffee, I turned on the radio. There was an interesting report about a crime. While I was listening to the radio I heard a noise downstairs. I put my coffee on the table. I got too scared, but I calmed down and went to the stairs. While I was standing at the stairs I heard another sound, so I decided to call the police, but my cellphone was in the kitchen. I didn't remember when was the last time I felt so scared. I went back to the kitchen; my phone was on the table. While I was trying to dial 911, my best friend texted me. When I opened the message, I heard a man's voice saying "do not move..."
