

OPA34. Last night, Maggie...

Script

---

Last night, Maggie wanted to make a delicious dinner. She went to the supermarket and got some meat and some milk and flour to bake a cake. When she came back home, she put her shopping on her dining room table. While she was getting ready to cook, her dog and cat were under the table and observed her. After that, she went to the kitchen to make the cake. She forgot to take the meat and the milk and left them on the table.

While Maggie was making the cake, the dog jumped on a chair, took the meat in its mouth, and ran out. While she was coming back into the dining room, she saw the dog taking the meat. She ran after it. While she was trying to catch the dog, the cat jumped on the table and began to drink the milk.

Maggie could not catch the dog, and she came back into the dining room. When she saw the cat, she yelled at it so loudly that the cat jumped high into the air, and went out through the window. Maggie tried to hit it with a broom, but she missed and broke her window. And as she was walking backwards, she hit the table and spilled the milk all over the table.

Maggie just sat down and sighed.
